What type of internet connection do your servers have?

Author:
Your-Site.com

Created On: 22 Apr 2004 12:39 PM

A long haul OC-192 national backbone that links together all major U.S. cities, is Layer 3 protected, utilizes IP-over-DWDM technology and operates at 80 Gbps (scalable to 15x that amount) making it the largest network of its kind in the industry. This backbone extends directly into our collocation center via an OC-48 connection which connects to our network.