

If I pay by credit card, do I have to keep my informati...

Author:
Your-Site.com

Created On: 22 Apr 2005 05:04 PM

If you are paying via creditcard, then maintaining a current and valid creditcard on file is also required. This creditcard will only be used to pay for bills relating to your account. This is also so that your account will have valid information on the account at all times in case you need to update your account or provide us with correct account verification.

To update your credit card on file, please go to our secure server at: <https://billing.your-site.com>